

Highland's H/Office and that is compatible with the new NBN fibre optic network.

Permaconn PM45-4G

The simplest and most cost effective remedy to solve this problem is to have a Permaconn PM45-4G transmitter unit fitted to your existing alarm by Highland Security.

See attached flyer for more details on costs and how to arrange the purchase and installation of the unit.

To date, over 70 BVWNW members already have had these units installed in readiness for the arrival of the NBN.

Many other residents including myself were motivated to have a Permaconn unit fitted as a safety precaution months ago, when we were made aware that if someone were to cut the wire to our grey Telstra box, the B2B signal would be lost.

This would result in Highland's B2B monitoring becoming inoperable until the cut wire was detected and finally repaired.

Residents would be aware of the recent fire at the Parklea Exchange. Whilst it was very inconvenient for many residents with their internet and phone connections out of action for some weeks, it also meant that the B2B signals to Highland's Head Office were rendered inoperable for the duration of the outage.

To help offset this loss of B2B monitoring, Highland generously arranged for many additional patrols to be carried out in our BVW Estate during this period, all at no cost to BVWNW members.

However, any resident who had a Permaconn unit fitted to their home alarm were still able to be monitored during this period, as the signal was still able to be transmitted to Highland's H/Office.

Another advantage of fitting a Permaconn unit is that even if a power blackout should ever occur, this would not prevent a signal being sent and received at Highland's Head Office, thus maintaining full B2B monitoring services.

Next Collection Date

Our next collection will commence on the w/c Saturday 1st July for the July, August and September Quarter.

Many thanks to the 390 BVW residents who continue to support the work of BVW Neighbourhood Watch by contributing $50 each quarter to pay for the Highland Security patrols that operate every night in the BVW Estate.

Your support is vital to maintain our hard won reputation of being the Hills District's most secure address.
