FROM MULPHA

Mulpha's latest building, The Bond was officially opened on 27th April by Hills Shire Mayor, Dr Peter Gangemi. Purpose-built from mass timber to enhance the wellbeing and health of its occupants, The Bond will provide vital health infrastructure to The Hills through its specialist services and location opposite Norwest Private Hospital. The Bond is anchored by a range of specialist providers including GenesisCare Oncology who have set up a world class cancer treatment centre; fertility specialist Dr Antony Lighten, psychologists Talbot Centre, and Douglas Hanley Moir pathology. Space has also been taken up by medical imaging, orthodontic, obstetrics and gynaecology practices, as well as a café, restaurant, and IIO-space Kinda-Mindi childcare centre.

Swing City, Mulpha's latest hospitality and leisure venue is opening soon and ready to offer a cutting-edge driving range with advanced technology for tracking your golf range. With 40 driving ranges, 18 holes, and amusement games, it's the perfect destination for golf enthusiasts of all ages and skill levels. Enjoy a bistro-style dining experience, unwind at the two bars, or challenge your friends to a round of mini golf. Swing City caters to group bookings, corporate events, birthday parties, and even date night activities. Get your swing on and experience golf like never before at Swing City. For updates and bookings visit swingcitygolf.com.au.

Green Gala

Green Gala, Mulpha's annual neighbourhood festival, returned triumphantly, uniting the Norwest community in their commitment to sustainability. Hosted by the charismatic Ranger Stacey, the event was filled with engaging talks, activities, including Hills Eco Kidz, Pocket City Farms, and Nuance. Attendees were captivated by mesmerizing performances by local talents AM4U Singing Studio, and Sister 2 Sister School of Singing, to educational encounters with Raptor Reptiles. BMW also made an appearance, showcasing their latest electric cars, highlighting the future of sustainable transportation.

The highlight of the gala was the recognition of local eco-friendly initiatives and the distribution of prizes from partnering companies, including Zero Co, Bimbadgen Wines, Subpod, Foodcube, Who Gives and Crap, Soak City, and InterContinental Hotel Sydney.

The Green Gala showcased the community's dedication to a greener future, emphasising unity and environmental stewardship. Stay tuned for more updates and events as the Norwest community continues to nurture a thriving and environmentally conscious neighbourhood.

Draft Norwest Precinct Plan: A Vision for Thriving Growth

In an ambitious move, the Draft Norwest Precinct Plan has been unveiled by Hills Shire Council, outlining a comprehensive vision to revitalise Norwest into a vibrant mixed-use strategic centre. By 2041, the area aims to become a prime location for knowledge-intensive businesses, offering employment opportunities in sectors like health, education, technology, and finance.

The plan emphasises enhanced connectivity to nearby strategic centres, improved access to key locations such as Sydney CBD and Western Sydney Airport, and the creation of a walkable centre with well-designed buildings.

Additionally, the proposal aims to provide diverse housing options, preserve local heritage, prioritise sustainability, and offer attractive public spaces. With potential changes to planning controls and infrastructure, Norwest seeks to evolve into a thriving hub that fosters economic growth and quality living. The Draft Precinct Plan is currently open for public input until 31 July 31 2023.

Upholding Norwest Lake's Beauty: A Call for Responsible Recreation

Norwest Lake, a serene haven known for its abundant wildlife, is in peril. It is crucial for residents and visitors alike to respect the rules and refrain from littering, as excessive rubbish is detracting from the lake's natural charm. Despite fishing being prohibited, there has been an increase in unauthorized fishing activities, leading to increased patrols by Castle Hill Police to enforce regulations.

A heart-breaking incident occurred recently when a bird was found with a fishing hook lodged in its beak, requiring the tireless efforts of WIRES and the fire brigade to aid the suffering creature. This underscores the need for responsible behaviour around the lake. Together, we can ensure Norwest Lake remains a sanctuary for all to cherish.
